

Report Developer

Decade Software Company, a multiple-award winning and longstanding software-publishing firm, with over 100 clients ranging from Alaska to the Cayman Islands, is rapidly expanding and is seeking an experienced and seasoned professional possessing analysis and report development expertise.

Be a part of the growth acceleration phase of a market leading company in the right space at the right time. Environmental issues are looming larger than ever, and Decade is the best-positioned company in the US to tackle them head on.

Job Description:

Decade's flagship product, EnvisionConnect, relies on Crystal Reports and Report Builder for end-user reporting. This position calls for an experienced report developer that can analyze, design, develop and test reports for scheduling, accounting, employee activity, and cost accounting. The employee will report directly to the Development Manager. The ability to work directly with clients is very important.

Specific Responsibilities:

- Serves as the point of contact with external and internal clients for the discussion and creation of all custom reports and the modification of existing reports; identifies problems and suggestions for improvements
- Coordinates custom report requests across client sites
- Reviews reports to determine basic characteristics and report flow, format, distribution and purpose or function of report; recommends establishment of new or modified report methods and procedures to improve report content and completeness of information
- Capable of teaching report development and database classes to end users
- Tracking issues with clients
- Troubleshooting client concerns
- Recreating client's environments
- Test planning and execution
- Documenting activities
- Completing assigned administrative responsibilities

Qualifications:

You must have three plus years of in-depth experience in a production environment as a report developer. The ability to quickly understand data schema and write complex SQL statements is required. In addition to proven expertise with Crystal Reports, the successful applicant must also work with MS SQL-Server Reporting Services and Decade software products.

4-year degree required, Computer Science or related field is strongly preferred.

Learn more about Decade Software Company, LLC at: www.decadesoftware.com. You'll be glad you did.

5+ years of customer facing experience in the services organization of a software company is a plus.

Salary range:

$40k to $60k

How to apply:

Send your resume to kevindelaney@decadesoftware.com

When to apply:

Immediately

About Decade Software Company, LLC:

What you can expect

Decade invests in its people. Really invests. This includes top-notch training conducted monthly, if not more often, on matters ranging from programming to public speaking, troubleshooting to project management, networks to testing. We use the latest technology and tool sets, with a highly structured and process-driven work environment. At Decade, the more you learn, the more you earn.

We provide a 401k, profit sharing, 29 days of paid leave in the first year of employment, as well as medical and dental insurance.

Who is Decade Software Company, LLC?

Governmental regulatory agencies of all sizes use Decade's data-driven software applications. Inspired by today's technology and industry needs, we bring every relevant piece of data into the nation's most comprehensive, cloud-based and on-premise applications.

With Decade, clients stop guessing and start relying on data to permit, inspect, and manage a multitude of regulated entities. Our rapidly growing customer base, including Los Angeles Environmental Health Department and the Southern Nevada Health District, to name just a few, coupled with our co-branding with the National Environmental Health Association, put us in position to grow rapidly and profitably.

Our privately held company features a proven leadership team with backgrounds from companies such as IBM, Hershey's, Fiserv, and Guarantee Savings. Our Vice President of Software Development holds a patent awarded during his stint at IBM. Our President sits on national and state Boards as an adviser and technical consultant. We have been involved in drafting legislation and leading statewide implementations of data management systems for California and Colorado.

Learn more about Decade Software Company, LLC at: www.decadesoftware.com. You'll be glad you did.