

Fresno State Applied Behavior Analysis Conference

Sponsored by
The College of Science and Mathematics
The Department of Psychology
The Fresno State ABA Club

Friday, November 16, 2007
8:30am – 5:00pm
Craig School of Business, University Business Center

Conference Focus

This conference has been designed specifically for professionals who work with children, as well as for parents. All conference presentations will focus on evidence-based strategies for helping children develop behaviors that will improve their success both academically and socially. The range of presentations will cover strategies that can be used at home and at school for typically-developing children and children with developmental disabilities, including autism.

If you are a parent, teacher, counselor, school psychologist, regional center provider, or any other professional who works with children with behavioral challenges, this conference is for you. No prerequisite knowledge of applied behavior analysis (ABA) is required for you to benefit from participation.

CEUs for BCBAs and BCABAs are available.
Other attendees may receive free professional development certificates of attendance upon request.

Please note: Conference registration is limited to 125 participants.
On-site registration will be conducted on a space-available basis.
Please be sure to register early to guarantee conference admission.
